1975-01-12	North Hudson Park UFO sightings	United States; North Bergen, New Jersey	George O'Barski reported seeing a dark object with lit windows near the Stonehenge building adjacent to North Hudson Park . His story was covered by ufologist Budd Hopkins and local newspapers. ^{[164][165][166]}
1975-11-05	Travis Walton	United States; Near Turkey Springs in Apache-Sitgreaves National Forest, Arizona	Logger Travis Walton disappeared for over 5 days resulting in a police investigation of his coworkers. When questioned on where he had been, Walton said that he had been taken aboard a spacecraft by nearly human creatures. ^[167] Walton's alien abduction account is the basis for the book The Walton Experience (1978), the film Fire in the Sky (1993), and the documentary "Alien Abduction: Travis Walton" (2022). ^[168]
1976-09-17	1976 Tehran UFO incident	Iran; Tehran, Tehran province	The 1976 Tehran UFO Incident was a radar and visual sighting of a UFO over the capital of Iran, during early morning hours. Two Imperial Iranian Air Force F-4 Phantom II jet interceptors reported losing instrumentation and communications as they approached the object. ^[169]
1977-09-20	Petrozavodsk phenomenon	Soviet Union, Finland, Lithuania, and Denmark	Residents of Petrozavodsk reported a giant glowing "jellyfish" of light (visible for over ten minutes) looming in the early morning sky. The light was seen and photographed in several Baltic Sea countries. In response to the phenomenon, the Soviet Union created a government program to study anomalous atmospheric phenomena. This program would later attribute the Petrozavodsk sightings to the secret night launch of the Kosmos 955 spy satellite. According to Soviet astrophysicist, Yuli Platov, sunlight can cause the giant plumes of gas and dust produced by rockets to glow, especially "in twilight hours, when the rocket streaks through sunlit regions and the observer is on the nighttime side of the Earth." ^[170]
1977 to 1978	Operação Prato	Brazil; Colares, Pará	Residents of Colares believed that scars on their bodie were caused by aerial lights that they named Chupa Chupa (Sucker Sucker). In an attempt to ward off the lights, they held vigils, tended fires, and lit fireworks. The military launched Operação Prato (Operation Saucer) to investigate the lights and found no unusual phenomena. ^{[171][172][173]}
1978-05-10	Emilcin Abduction	Poland; Emilcin, Lublin Voivodeship	Polish farmer Jan Wolski reported that while returning home, two "short, green-faced humanoid entities" wearing black overalls jumped onto his horse-drawn cart and started speaking an incomprehensible language. After about 1000 ft (300 m), he reported seeing a white flying object, from which an alien creature came out and invited Wolski inside. The farmer said that they examined him once inside. ^[174]
1978-10-21	Valentich disappearance	Australia; Victoria	Frederick Valentich left Moorabbin Airport in a Cessna 182 Skylane, a single-engined light aircraft. At 7:06 pm, he began reporting a strange craft to Melbourne air traffic control. Valentich's last words were, "That strange aircraft is hovering on top of me again ... it is hovering and it's not an aircraft." ^[175] Neither the pilot nor the plane were ever found. ^[176]
1978-12-06	Zanfretta UFO Incident	Italy; Torriglia, Genoa	Italian nightwatchman Pier Fortunato Zanfretta perceived a red, oval object and phoned his supervisor. During the call, he described non-human creatures that he said were attacking him. He was later found in a state of shock and his experience was adapted into a stage play. ^[177]
1978-12-21 to 1978-12-30	Kaikoura lights	New Zealand; South Island	The crew of a cargo aircraft spotted lights above the Kaikōura Ranges on New Zealand's South Island. A news team from TV1 and Channel 0 arrived to record footage for a story about the sighting, and were able to capture the lights on camera. The New Zealand Department of Scientific and Industrial Research investigated and did not find evidence that the lights were solid objects. ^{[178][179][180]}

Their reports included lights in the sky, a metallic triangular object in the forest, multi-colored lights moving through the forest, and higher levels of radiation. ^[191]
1980-12-29	Cash–Landrum incident	United States; near Dayton, Texas	Betty Cash and Victoria Landrum unsuccessfully sued the United States government in 1981. The two women attributed various symptoms to a diamond-shaped UFO they claimed to have seen pursued by air force helicopters the previous year. The judge dismissed their case due to a lack of evidence. ^{[192][193]}
1981-01-08	Trans-en-Provence case	France; Trans-en-Provence, Provence-Alpes-Côte d'Azur	Retired contractor, Renato Nicolai reported the landing of a flying object near his home to local police. Renato believed it to be a military craft. Groupe d'Étude des Phénomènes Aérospatiaux Non-identifiés (GEPAN), a branch of French Space Agency created to investigate UFOs, conducted an investigation, photographed circular impressions on the ground, and took samples of the area. ^[194] Skeptics have been critical of the GEPAN investigation which took place 40 days after the initial sighting. ^{[195][196]}
1982-11-02	Maxial UFO incident	Maxial, Portugal	A metallic-looking flying object surrounded a DHC-1 Chipmunk aircraft from the Portuguese Air Force piloted by the then Lieutenant Júlio Guerra. The object was seen by two other pilots. A report was made after landing. ^{[197][198]}
c. 1983	Hudson Valley Sightings	United States; Hudson Valley, New York	State police discovered that widespread reports of a massive object—described by one observer as a "city of lights" hanging silently above their home—were caused by a group of pilots flying small aircraft in formation. The events were the subject of an Unsolved Mysteries episode and Night Siege , a posthumous collaboration between ufologists including J. Allen Hynek. ^{[199][200][201][202]}
1986-05-19	"Night of the UFOs" in Brazil	Brazil; São Paulo, Rio de Janeiro, Minas Gerais and Goiás	Radar and visual contacts were obtained with multiple 'bright colorful objects' in the sky across several states. Mirage IIIE and F-5 fighters were scrambled but failed to intercept, with pilots describing the objects as capable of impossible maneuvers and rapidly accelerating to as much as Mach 15 once approached. ^[203]
1986-11-17	Japan Air Lines Cargo Flight 1628 incident	United States; Alaska	While piloting a Japanese Boeing 747-200F cargo aircraft on a polar route from France to Narita International Airport in Japan, the flight crew witnessed several unidentified objects over eastern Alaska. Captain Kenju Terauchi (寺内謙寿, Terauchi Kenju), co-pilot Takanori Tamefuji (為藤隆憲, Tamefuji Takanori), and flight engineer Yoshio Tsukuda (佃善雄, Tsukuda Yoshio) reported
